

ABSTRACT

Apparatuses are classified into a plurality of categories, and based on a media key and device key data held by apparatuses belonging to the respective categories, revocation data intended for 5 revoking the device key held by a specific apparatus of the respective categories is generated for the respective categories, and recorded on a recording medium.